

GSI Fellows program is launched

Four renowned researchers and policy advisors are the first to join the new GSI Fellows program.

BERLIN, Germany - The Global Solutions Initiative's new GSI Fellows program welcomes four outstanding researchers committed to supporting the Group of 20 (G20) process through the Think20 (T20) engagement group.

GSI Fellows serve as ambassadors of the initiative, contributing to research and interactions with G20 and T20 policymakers, and through continued engagement in related activities. Additionally, GSI Fellows produce implementable recommendations for tackling global challenges based on G20 priorities.

The following individuals have been appointed for a three-year period and will receive support from the GSI staff in the fulfillment of their roles:

- Colin Bradford of the Brookings Institution
- Marc Fleurbaey of Princeton University
- Julia Pomares of Center for the Implementation of Public Policies Promoting Equity and Growth
- Margo Thomas of the Women's Economic Imperative

"We are thrilled to announce the participation of such outstanding researchers and policy advisors, who have a strong voice in the public debate on global issues and are committed to supporting the G20 policy process," said Global Solutions President Dennis J. Snower.

The GSI Fellows will play a significant role in the Global Solutions Summit, which serves as a stepping stone to the T20 and G20 Summits. The priorities of these summits are set annually by the country holding the G20 Presidency.

About the GSI Fellows program

The GSI Fellows program encourages recognized researchers, policy advisors and thought-leaders to engage with scholars, implementers and civil society to bring research-based insights into the G20/T20 process. Progress in the GSI Fellows' global problem-solving efforts is assessed annually and future collaboration is developed on this basis. More information here.

About the Global Solutions Initiative

The Global Solutions Initiative (GSI) is a global collaborative enterprise to propose policy responses to major global problems, addressed by the G20, the G7 and other global governance fora. The policy recommendations and strategic visions are generated through a disciplined research program by leading research organizations, elaborated on in policy dialogues between researchers, policymakers, business leaders and civil society representatives.

Media Contact: Christine Coester, Tel. +49 (0) 152 56384827, press@global-solutions.international